1. Exploring Podcasting
If you have not yet explored the ABC Radio National website, please log on and look at what they are offering both in terms of podcasting and the support for this facility (ie instructions and downloads)

2. Assignment – Group Component

Discussion Points
- What is e-learning
- How does e-learning differ from traditional learning modes
- Does e-learning fit the KMS agenda
- Can e-learning be a stand alone application
- What is the context for e-learning
- Does e-learning integrate with traditional learning modes

Discuss these issues in the Lab. Each group will need to think about these issues as they will underpin the design of your prototype. Your documentation will need to touch on these (and other) issues.

Prototyping an e-Learning System
Please refer to the assignment sheet for details of your tasks. The laboratory sessions provide you with an opportunity to implement your prototype design and in this way to explore the functionality of technology usually associated with KMS.

Towards the end of semester, some laboratory sessions will be set aside for groups to reflect on their experience in using such technology.
